Mr. E. H. Harriman, the great railroad man, paid Astoria a flying trip yesterday. Between the steamship Potter and his special train he covered several points along the Columbia from Portland to its mouth. Mr. Harriman investigated the summer resorts and other points hurriedly and his visit will doubtless result in something good for this section. When the commonest people can see the wonders of this section a man like Harriman is bound to see them in all of their greatness. It is to be regretted that the people of Astoria were not spared more of his time that they might have been permitted to show him many things that he must have overlooked in his hurry. He doubtless agrees with the statement of Mr. Melien, of the Northern Pacific, at Portland banquet, at which Mr. Harriman was present, and at which was said: "One thing that has stood in Portland's way is its refusal to recognize the best route to the sea (Astoria & Columbia River railroad) and its tenacious clinging to the inferior (river) route."

Just after the closing of the regatta last season Master Fish Warden Van Dusen had several hundred young salmon on hand which had been given him from the Chinook hatchery for exhibition. There were as many as six or seven hundred of them and they were about an inch long. He decided to place them in the reservoir No. 2, of the city water works, and did so. A few days ago the city water works superintendent began the process of cleaning out reservoir No. 2 and he captured a lot of the salmon. Many of them escaped but he retained something near a hundred. They are fine specimens ranging in length of from six to nine inches. About sixty of these will be returned to the reservoir and the fish warden has taken several and will preserve them for his collection. Those that escaped are already on their way to the sea as they are just now about the right age to start on this mysterious journey. The fish warden says they are fat plump fellows and the experiment only confirms his theory that fish can be propagated and handled by men just as any of the domesticated animals. The fact is, he says that the hatcheries are no longer an experiment, except that improvements may be made in their work.

GLORIOUS FOURTH.

The clerks of Astoria have decided to head the subscription list for the prospective Fourth of July celebration with $20. At their meeting last night considerable enthusiasm was exhibited in making preparations to raise the required funds necessary for a successful celebration. The committee appointed at their previous meeting to interview the business men of the city to ascertain their desire in the matter reported that every one seen encouraged the project, so while the iron was hot they appointed another committee consisting of Messrs. Reed, Stine, McLean, Carlson and Kline to solicit subscription. They raised $20 on the spot among the members to head the list, a good example set for encouragement to others. Among other business of the evening the union voted the acceptance of five new members and appointed another committee of three to arrange with the employers regarding the observance of Decoration Day.

FUN AT SCHOOL.

Juniors and Seniors Engage in a Flag Rush Contest.

The Astoria High School enjoyed a genuine flag rush yesterday. Yesterday was junior day and on the previous day the juniors approached Professor Clark and asked innocently if they could hoist their flag on junior day. The professor told them certainly. The irrepressible juniors proceeded to place a bulletin on the blackboard in a conspicuous place announcing that they would at 10 minutes to 9 o'clock Tuesday morning proceed to fly their flag and they defied the senior class to interfere with the proceedings. The senior class, while inferior in numbers, possessed the true American spirit and they accepted the challenge and gave them to understand that they would have a "warm time" flying their flag.

Professor Clark got wind of the coming contest and he forbade them having the contest on the roof of the building, as it was dangerous and some one might fall overboard, but he told them they could use a telegraph pole for the initiatory steps and if the juniors won they might then fly their flag during the day from the top of the building unmolested. A telephone post was just as satisfactory to all persons concerned. There were girls on both sides and this meant that there was going to be some fun, the girls are enthusiastic in a contest.

The juniors believed in being on hand early, and despite the fact that the seniors had the right to resist them and haul their flag down until 10 minutes to 9 in the morning, the juniors were on hand at 3 o'clock, while the seniors were sleeping soundly, and hoisted their flag and stood by as it flouted gallantly in the early morning breeze. Half past 8 o'clock came and the flag remained undisturbed, but the juniors stood by. At 25 minutes to 9 the seniors were seen approaching, each carrying a bucket. The whole school was watching to see the fun. The juniors had wrapped the pole with barbed wire for several feet from the ground to make climbing difficult, and when the seniors approached with buckets, it was thought they had water and there would be a sort of "water cure" administered to the juniors.

Carl Ross, of the seniors, wore a full rig of pole-climbers and looked for the world like a lineman, except that he carried an iron rod with him. This was to hold against the opposite side of the pole to keep from getting hurt by the barbed wires. On they came. The juniors, confident with their superior number, tackled them and the fun began. The buckets of water—no, not water, but whitewash, were brought into requisition and a general friendly scuffle to a finish ensued. The girls strung the boys out and there was a mingling of hair-pulling and throwing whitewash until it was difficult to tell boys from girls and either from one another. The telegraph pole was whitened, the combatants were whitened, the sidewalks and grounds were whitened. It all looked like a snow bank. But 10 minutes to 5 came and the flag had not been molested. The fight lasted 15 minutes but the juniors had won. Aside from some smarting eyes filled with whitewash and some damaged wearing apparel no serious damage was done.

It was one of those good-natured school scuffles that tests the young American and they all showed good pluck. Another flag rush may be planned again, but hereafter whitewash will be debarred.

The juniors kept their flag flying all day on the building.

Following were engaged in the contest: Juniors—Alvin Campbell, Mary Warfield, Mary Dawson, Emelia Urre, Felix Moore, Philip Gearhart, Alice Goddard, Lauridsen, Grover Uttinger, Laura Fastabend, Ethel Timmons; Seniors—Oney Jackson, Carl Ross, Alfred Anderson, Carl Holms, Alma Lawson, Arthur Young.

SUITS OUR CLIMATE.

The rapidly increasing use of shingles as covering for the walls of buildings, both to keep out the weather and for ornamental purposes, makes a great demand for a shingle stain which preserves the wood, prevents moss, and retains a fresh, handsome appearance. Particularly is such the case in damp climates. The need is well met in a perfect article made right here in Astoria. Cutbush's Cresote Shingle Stains are penetrative, preservative, handsome and durable. They are put up in eight colors and every package guaranteed.

NO RESPECT OF RANK

Disease Lays Its Heavy Hand on Kings, Princes' Presidents, the Feeble and Wealthy, as Well as Those of Low Estate.

Paine's Celery Compound

Is the Great Restorer of Health for the Ruler and His Humblest Subject.

Sickness, disease and suffering respect neither ruler nor subject. The noted and high born have their trials and physical sufferings like those in humbler stations. Social standing and wealth cannot bar the progress of disease when the common rules of health are violated. Impure blood and weak nerves are responsible for many of the common diseases of life. The experienced physician will tell you that men and women with pure, clear coursing blood and well braced nerves, can never become victims of rheumatism, neuralgia, liver troubles, debility, headaches, or sleeplessness.

It follows, therefore, that sufferers from any of the ailments referred to, should at once take proper measures to cleanse the blood and feed the weak nervous system with proper nourishment. For the happy accomplishment of this important work, Paine's Celery Compound is the only safe agent, the one great specific, the only security against deadly disease and death. During these spring days, Paine's Celery Compound guarantees a perfect regularity of the bowels, healthy appetite, sound sleep, good digestion, pure blood, strong nerves, and clear brain, all of which mean full and robust health.

Mr. E. M. Sutton, ex-mayor of Burlington, Vt., one of the strongest and heartiest advocates of Paine's Celery Compound in the United States, tells us in the following letter how he keeps well under all circumstances; he says: "People have often asked me how I managed to keep so well, for although out in nearly all kinds of weather and traveling considerably, I have no aches or sickness. My one answer has been that instead of waiting until I am sick in bed and forced to stop work for awhile, whenever I feel out-of-sorts the least bit, I take Paine's Celery Compound, which keeps me well and strong. It is a great deal better in my opinion to take a medicine that keeps one well, rather than to wait for sickness, and then hunt around for a medicine or a doctor to cure the sickness. I have been a hearty advocate of Paine's Celery Compound since it was first made, a great many years ago, and have yet to hear of a case in which it fails to fulfill its promise."
